Forecast For London & Southeast England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Wednesday 24 Mar 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Mostly cloudy today. Turning clear and chilly overnight.

Today:
Some sunshine at first, but generally clouding over with some light rain and drizzle possible although many staying dry. Perhaps bright throughout across Kent and then a little brighter in the northwest by evening. Feeling mild. Maximum temperature 14 deg C (57 deg F).

Tonight:
Mostly dry with some clear spells overnight allowing it to turn rather chilly. A few showers may affect southern coastal counties during the evening and first part of the night. Minimum temperature 5 deg C (41 deg F).

Thursday:
Largely dry with variable amounts of cloud giving some bright or sunny spells. A few showers may form across the region during the afternoon. Mild and a little breezy. Maximum temperature 15 deg C (59 deg F).

Outlook for Friday to Sunday:
Blustery on Friday with a spell of heavy rain pushing across the region. Drier but cooler on Saturday before turning cloudy and damp on Sunday. Windy throughout.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.